

There were 114 quarter peals rung for the TDGR in 2019, the lowest (just) total in the last 12 years. There was no quarter/performance week this year which usually accounts for an additional 10 or so above the summer monthly average. Although the total number is comparable to recent years (119 in 2018 and 116 in 2017) there are a number of worrying trends held within these numbers.

There has been a significant increase in hand-bell quarters in 2019, 15 being rung compared to 5 in 2018, so whilst it is pleasing to see the TDGR handbell ringers progressing it shows that tower bell quarters are decreasing; 2019 saw just 98 quarters rung in towers.

The leading venue was 16 Hurland road (14) and the leading tower Carbis Bay (10). 2019 saw the fewest venues of the last 12 years of only 42. In 2008 63 towers and 1 hand bell venue were visited.

Andy Smith was the leading quarter peal ring with 47, also reaching his 1000th quarter peal. This is only the second time since 2008 that either Jane or Neil Hitchens have not been at the top of the leading quarter peal list. Other leading ringers were Norman Mattingley and Claire Sowden (36), Sam Nankervis (33), Jane and Neil Hitchens and Jo Wenborne (32). Again there is a worrying trend in the number of ringers taking part in quarter peals, down to 114. This is the lowest number of ringers since we have seen in the last 12 years and continues the downward trend seen in recent years.

Twenty people shared the conducting duties in 2019 with Jonathan Young again leading this list with 17.

On the positive side what was rung in 2019 shows promise. Congratulations to Ben Hicks, George Monie, Joseph Payne, Philippa Vaizey, Tegan Holden, Malcolm Wright and Eleanor Hood in ringing their first quarter peals and to Liz Martin and John Swan as first as conductor.

First quarters were rung on the rehung bells of Calstock, Lelant and Zennor.

Ten and twelve bell ringing has been of particular focus in the Central and Western districts. Ten quarter peals were rung on 10 including firsts in Cornwall by a resident band of Rutland and London No.3 Surprise Royal. Bristol Surprise Royal is the only one of the standard 8 not yet rung by a resident band. A challenge for 2020 maybe?

Two quarters of Grandsire Cinques were also rung as part of the Truro Cathedral practices for the regional 12-bell striking competition.

It is difficult to see trends in 'every day' ringing, quarter peals being the easiest yardstick to measure activity. Cornwall (and Devon) have call change ringing that is not recorded and it is difficult to quantify how healthy these activities are. With regard method ringing areas it appears Cornwall is a microcosm of the wider ringing community. Fewer and fewer ringers and towers are taking part in quarter peals, but those 'at the top' are pushing the boundaries ever further. It is not a sustainable model...

Let us see what 2020 brings.
